Gender, Nature, and Nurture by Richard A. Lippa

has long been believed by the scientific community that the gender identity of a child was determined by the child's upbringing, surrounding